Funeral of Mrs. John Carter
Held From St. Rose Church
Leaves Six Children.

The funeral of Mrs. John Carter was held from the St. Rose church, Saturday morning, with the interment following which took place in the St. Rose burying ground. The burial rites were said by Rev. J. S. Henry.

Mrs. Carter died on Friday morning at five o'clock. She had been ill for two months from the effects of the influenza. Previous to her death, she underwent an operation performed by Dr. John Kincheloe of Hardinsburg and Dr. B. H. Parrish of this city. She was apparently very much better Thursday and much hope was held for her recovery until later in the day she began sinking rapidly.

Mrs. Carter would have been thirty-three years old the 22nd, of this month. Before her marriage she was Miss Modesta Mattingly, daughter of Mrs. Frances Mattingly who survives with the husband and six children, the youngest being a two months old baby. The children are: Bernadine, Columbia, Mary C., Joseph, Martha and Margaret Alice Carter.

Mrs. Carter's life though brief was lived worthily. Her devotion to her home and family will be one of the sweetest memories she has left to abide with the bereaved ones.

Taking Advantage of State and National Aid Means More Than This to Breckinridge County Voters--Road Tax Election Tuesday, May 20th, 1919, Is of Vital Importance--Real Objects of Election Explained--Men Without Property Not Even Pay Poll Tax-- Thousands Paid to State That Breckinridge Should Use.

EACH MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT USES ITS OWN ROAD MONEY.

The war is over, our country did nobly its part in this supreme efforts for justice and humanity. With the era to follow, come more and greater responsibilities to individual, county state and nation. The National Representatives know that the good roads of France contributed more than has ever been told to her defense, and the winning of the war. They are impressed with the necessity of more real roads in America. They know the expense and are agreeing to pay 50 per cent of cost. The state follows the lead and our county pays only about a third of the cost, and this third is supplemented by contribution of property owners or road. If a national highway is constructed and maintained at Government expense, stop a minute and realize what this passing opportunity means to us, and those who come after us. There is in this realization a sacred call to action of every responsible citizen who really desires to change our road system, get results and value received for our taxes, and get ourselves on the map as a progressive county.

Land and those people and things connected with it constitute the basis of our county's wealth and activities. Land itself, and the pleasure and profit of owning and using it, depends on the roads of the community. Democrats and Republicans alike officially concede that our systems of the past are largely a failure. There should therefore be the keenest interest manifested by our citizenship in the effort to take a step forward, a step which practically all of the leading counties of our state have long since taken. There is no other question so important and vital to our future. You wonder why you cannot keep your sons on the farm, why labor drifts away, and such queries. The reason is many of them have seen and used the good roads of the states and countries; and the future holds greater troubles for those counties that cast their votes on the side of continued mud and against more progressive and economic action. A great responsibility has fastened itself on our people, what will the answer be?

The material question to be considered by each voter in forming a conclusion may be presented under the following heads:

1. Purpose of the Tax.

The purpose of voting the tax of twenty (20) cents on each one hundred ($100.00) dollars of taxable property in

END COMES FOR A GOOD WOMAN

Wife of James Spencer Is Laid To Rest In Fairview Cemetery Near Roff, Ky.

Roff, Ky., May 5, 1919. (Special)—Mrs. Mandy Spencer, wife of Mr. James Spencer died April 27, 1919.

Mrs. Spencer was converted in the Methodist church at Cave Spring, and since then she has lived a beautiful, true christian life to the very end of her earthly pilgrimage. Though handicapped most of her life by a frail body, Mrs. Spencer nevertheless had bravely, and met the world with a great soul. She bore her sufferings smiling face. Her deep devotion to her family, her loyalty to her church, and her ardent love for the Master were qualities everyone saw and appreciated in her life.

Not often found is such a resolute will, strong faith and gentle spirit in so fragile tenement of clay. These were the qualities of soul that kept this noble woman going about her duties both in the home and in the church, when others as frail as she would have given up. She was universally respected and loved.

It was not surprising that she died so triumphant life. She was conscious to the end, and spoke words of affection and counsel to her dear ones. Just before passing away, the veil that hides from us the mysteries beyond was drawn aside, and the departing one said, that she saw the light on the other shore. And it was that light never seen on land or sea; yea, it was the light of the glory of God.

The bereaved family who will mourn their loss is the husband, one daughter, Clara Spencer and three sons, Robert, Walter and Everett Spencer.

The remains were laid to rest in the Fairview cemetery.

A Friend, Miss Lettie Critchloe, Axtel, Ky.

Come Out For Road Tax

Jesse H. Miller and William N. Head, two prominent voters of the third district visited Hardinsburg, last Monday. They were deeply interested in the road tax election and inclined to oppose it. After a thorough understanding of the proposition, they both declared their intention of voting and working for it, and said it was a pity the people were being misformed in certain particulars. Let other intelligent men seek the truth and enlighten their neighbors. The tax should carry easily.

Catches Big Bass

Izaak Walton Reid, better known as "Billy," caught a big rock bass—we won't say Sunday but t'other day—that weighed five pounds and four ounces. This is the largest bass caught around here this season, and this young minnow is telling the old timers how the trick is turned. Just wait, young man, the one we are going to catch will make your's look like a river chub.

Mr. Owen W. Rice Makes A Brave Fight For Life Even Unto The Very Last.

Mattingly, Ky., May 5, (Special)—Life took its departure from the frail body of Owen Worth Rice Apr. 25, at his home near Mattingly, Ky.

He was born Aug. 30, 1847 making him 71 years, 7 months and 25 days old.

He had been in poor health for several years with the dreaded disease tuberculosis tho only taking to his bed about 2 weeks before the end came. He held out bravely to the last saying, "he would get well." His suffering was great at times tho he never complained. Everything that could be done to prolong his life was to no avail.

He had spent all his life on the farm and was highly respected by all his friends and neighbors.

Forty-eight year ago Mr. Rice professed faith in Christ and united with the Pisgah Baptist church where he remained a member of good standing until the life of old Cave Spring church began, which was several years ago.

Then with his wife moved their membership there where it remained until his death.

On Nov. 10, 1869, Mr. Rice was married to Miss Catherine A. McQuady. To this union were born the following children: Mrs. O. M. Powers of Cleveland, O., W. B. Rice of Portland, Ore., S. T. Rice of Louisville, Ky., and Ernest L. Rice who lived with and cared for the aged parents.

Besides his widow, he leaves one brother, N. B. Rice one sister, Mrs. Allen Newby both of Tar Fork neigh-

HOME SERVICE DEPT. MUST BE MORE ACTIVE

Field Worker of This Department Spoke Here And Urged Women To Carry On Work

"Now that the knitting and hand sewing are about over, we are urging the men and women to make greater efforts in developing the Home Service Department of the Red Cross," said Miss Ola Mae Arick, field representative Department of Civilian Relief, Lake Division of the American Red Cross who spoke to the executive committee and several members of the Cloverport Red Cross on Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Elizabeth Skillman.

Miss Arick's main purpose in coming here was to urge this chapter to help maintain a paid secretary for Breckinridge County, who would develop the Civilian Relief Work which takes in several branches of charity and sociological work. The members present generally agreed that the Cloverport branch should do its part towards paying the secretary's salary.

Another thing Miss Arick thought best for the three societies in Breckinridge county, Hardinsburg, Irvington and Cloverport, was that they be united into a county chapter. At a meeting in Hardinsburg on Saturday evening, May 17, this plan will be discussed together with that of having a paid secretary. The chairman of the Home Service Department here, Mrs. Frank Mattingly with Mrs. Frank Ferry, Miss Elizabeth Skillman and Miss Irene Jarboe were appointed as delegates to attend the meeting in Hardinsburg.

Convention In Elizabethtown

Miss Arick read the program of a meeting of the Civilian Relief Department to be held in Elizabethtown Ky., May 21, and 22, and where twenty-five counties of the North-eastern part of the State are to be represented. The Cloverport Chapter will send its secretary, Miss Elizabeth Skillman and treasurer, Miss Irene Jarboe.

When the Inevitable Occurs

There will come a time, sooner or later, when your property must pass to others, being distributed either:

- (1) As you will it, if there is a legally drawn will; or
- (2) As the laws of the State provide, in case there is no will.

A will must name an executor to carry out its provisions; the court appoints an administrator to do the same when there is no will.

In either case, the fees are fixed by law, and it usually costs less to get the benefit of the expert service of a strong State-protected institution like this Company which makes a specialty of matters of trust, than it does to have the usually less dependable service of an individual executor or administrator. The reason for this is that the knowledge, experience and equipment of a Trust Company make for greater economy and efficiency of administration.

You are invited to consult with us about the best interests of your heirs.

Seeing Europe While He Can

Mrs. S. C. Frank of Mattingly has had the following letter from her son, Lawrence Frank, who is in France and says he is taking advantage of his life long desire in seeing as much of Europe as he can. His letter in detail reads:

Romorantin, France, Mar. 21, 1919.
Dear Mother: I will drop you a few lines to let you know I am well and hope this finds you all the same. It is raining here today and very cool but it has never been very cold over here.

You asked what port I left. We came in to Jersey City walked off the train and on to ferry boat off the at New York on board the ship Partia. Was eleven days crossing the pond and landed at Brest. Stayed there four days and come to Romorantin, and have been here ever since except when I go away on pass. I am expecting to go to Paris the 12, of April for three days. I have been to several places in France close around here I am using all I make to see every place I can get to go. But I don't care for what it takes, I always longed to see all the land in Europe I could and this is the best chance I have had and if I had about $50,000.00 I could use it hndy in touring Europe. But I guess I will have to come back and make it before I take a trip like that.

They are lots of things of interest over here to see. Well, you asked when I thought we were going to start back May or June. Well, I am very sorry to hear of Esther being sick and I can't keep from thinking of her and wondering if she is better, I hope that she is by the time you get this letter.

I sure have some time talking to those French people some times I have a dard time making them understand but I like to get them trying to talk English for I sure like to hear them talk.

Well, I will close for this time, Your son, Cook Lawrence E. Frank, 9th Co. 3rd Air Service Mechanic, A. E. F., A. P. O. 713

Pvt. Vessels In Germany

Pvt. W. G. Vessels addresses the letter below to the Editor of The Breckenridge News. Vessels is stationed near the Rhine, and he thinks its beauty cannot compare with that of Yellow Bank Creek back in Breckinridge county. Following is his letter:

Kettig, Germany, April 1st. 1919.
Dear Sir: This April morn came in, no cloud in the sky, and Old Sol is beaming down in regular summer style. Fine, I think, will explain the day. Birds have begun to look spry and hop from bush to tree, grass is coming and buds are swelling, and these old Clod Hoppers are hurrying around getting ready to farm in the old way with their rude implements and oxen. Slow but sure, I suppose. Some have one horse, very few have more. Not all are so fortunate as to have an ox or a horse.

Short On Live Stock.

These old codgers are pretty hard run for stock or poultry so it seems. So far I haven't seen a hog, only two or three milk cows. I never heard a sheep mentioned. Most families have goats and some rabbits. Chickens are scarce, have seen a couple of eggs. I couldn't buy those and at that time had a few marks.

As to eats they get a certain amount of stuff called bread, mostly weight and dark, take a knife and cut it like leather, at that it has some taste. Potatoes is the main thing. Its potatoes, bread, and coffee at each meal. The coffee is nothing but parched wheat. These people look fat and saucy, seem to have a big time.

Can't Realize They Were Licked.
They can't hardly grasp the idea that they were licked. Seemed to think Bill got cold feet and flew the coop on them. For some reason these people seem to date Bill an ex-Crown Prince and all the boys that left them with the bag to hold. They seem to admire Von Hindenburg and they tell us he is good. Of course I don't know that he is so good, that a fellow could say he was or is really good.

Wants To Come Home

I guess you think we are up against it. Well, we do want to come home as we can't we do the best we can. Things seem to be coming our way a little. Have shows two or three times per week in small towns, foot-ball games, base ball, in fact most any kind of games or amusement.

We have schools to fit most any one. Here in the Company we have common school branches. Then a fellow can go to some other school and take most anything he wants from turning a grind stone on up.

We are close to the Rhine and could go fishing. Haven't been but think I shall pitch a hook in the little stream before I leave here (sometime next year.)

If we care to we can stroll out on the hill, kick out a rabbit, go to the woods perhaps watch a deer go plunging by. Sometimes its possible to kick out a wild boar. What's the use? Can't shoot on account of orders to the contrary.

On the old hills or near the mountains you can see bare old rocks or ledges with some kind of fortifications. Then in some places see a lonesome looking old castle. They don't look so fine now but wait until summer when flowers bloom, trees put out their coat of green, vines wake up then will be the time to see the Rhine, and I'm afraid I'll be so unfortunate as to be here when that comes and goes.

Home Looks Better Than Berlin.

I can imagine some people saying of I could be over there I would want to say and see when it is beautiful. These people don't know. I feel very different. My little home town would look better to me than Berlin. Yellow Bank Creek has the Rhine skinned in all things. Any old log house has these old castles beat. As to Mother and Dad and they would look better to me than all the crowned heads of all times. I know an old gray mule I had much rather see than to see Bill and Son.

I want to get home as do all others. Very truly yours, W. G. Vessels, Co. F 7th Inf., A. P. O. 740, Near Coblenz.

Enjoying Soldier's Life

Following are several letters from Corp. Johnnie L. Avitt, who is in Germany and says he likes that country for its scenery better than France. His letters to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Avitt of Lodiurg read:
Chamouix, Mar. 14, 1919. Dear Mother and Father: Here are some views of Mt. Blanc where I have been this afternoon. When I got back to the hotel I was so tired could hardly move, believe me! On some of the cards are pictures of fine buildings in Tiers. I had them in my pocket and will just send them altogether. Will send some boy friend's picture. The one with three stripes on sleeve is Sgt. Yokam and Cpl. Daffron. The are two Smith boys, and Cpl. Hanse Parrish with watch on his wrist.

I am O. K. and having a sweet time. Hope both of you are well. Love to both, John.

Chamouix, Mar 17. Dear Mother: I am sending you all a map of the great Western front. You can see how the lines were at the close of the war. You can see Trapelle, the first town for us Yanks to take and hold. Will mark it. Then you can see St. Mihiel and Verdun. Most of all you can look in Luxemburg and see where we are stationed but it don't give the town, but joins Baschorge. Key this map until I come home, then I can show you where I have been.

Mama, I am sending you a souvenir from here. Guess Dad will think I slighted him but there is nothing here only things like I am sending you.

We leave here tomorrow. I sure have had a good time while here, do hate to leave.

I am well with the exception of a little cold. Fat and mean, and weigh 161 pounds. Will write to you, when we get back to the Co. So good-bye. Your son, Cpl. Johnnie E. Avitt, Co. M. 6th U. S. Inf., 5th Div. A E F. A. P. O 745 France

March 13. Dear Home Folks: I will drop you a line this morning hoping this will find you all well. I am just fine and dandy. I am down on the Alps Mountains, in Southern France. Certainly is a small place. This is a summer resort. I will be here for seven days yet.

We went to Petange and took the train to Esch and changed there. then to Jsourtille, from there down through Aixlesbaines down by Dixon. Arrived here Tuesday eve. Several hundred soldiers are here. We are all in hotels. Have a good place to stay and plenty to eat.

Sure is a great place. The name of this town is Chamouix. Not a large town. I can sit in my room and look upon the mountains and see the snow covered peaks. It is raining this morning.

Mount Blanc is the highest mountain in the Alps, 15,870 ft. I would also be glad if I could have you and

WHERE CHILDREN ARE HELD AS PREMIUMS.

One of the first projects of the Methodist Missionary Cabtenarry in its $505,000,000 campaign for world reconstruction, is the building of an apartment house in Detroit, Mich., where childless families are to be barred. The apartment will cost $600,000. It will have a completely equipped playground on the roof, and it is to be located on the outskirts of that crowded city.

Dr. John G. Benson, Executive Secretary of the Michigan Organization regards the matter of building this apartment in this way:

An apartment house in the heart of a crowded city is not the best place in the world to rear children. Any one will admit that, but there are thousands of families whose circumstances force them to live in such places.

The apartment house owners refuses to permit such families to occupy his building if they have children. Possibly they have some arguments on their side, but I do know the children should be cared for, and that is what we are going to do for just as many of them as we can. No family without children will be permitted in it. A premium is to be placed upon children.

Certainly a more worthy project could not be started than this of building a house where children are welcomed as desirable renters. About the first question a landlord asks a prospective renter nowadays is, "Have you children?" And if the reply happens to be in the affirmative, the renter is either deliberately refused a place or made to feel like the unwanted guest. In nine cases out of ten, we venture to say, you will find that landlords of this kind have no children.

It is easier to be a quitter than a starter. Don't be a quitter on the job of buying Victory Loan bonds.

The necessity for good roads in Breckenridge county becomes more apparent every day. There is never an undertaking started for the benefit of the whole county that it is not hindered in some way by not having good roads. Take this for an example: At a meeting of the Cloverport Red Cross chapter held last week, the members discussed having a secretary for the county who would develop the Civilian Relief work of the Red Cross in our community which covers many fields of service that we need include the child welfare work, and the prevention of tuberculosis along with other charitable aids. The society heartily favored having this secretary but upon further discussion it was found that one person could not possibly cover the territory in Breckenridge county because of the impossibility to get from one place to another on account of the bad roads.

We are losing opportunities like this every day. Opportunities that would mean much to our health and happiness. To say nothing of what we are losing in a financial way in buying and marketing our produce.

We can have all of these things and more to by voting the twenty cent road tax on May 20th., which will help build our county roads.

A savings bank in Brooklyn, N. Y. has a Liberty Bond savings department which has proven quite successful and it would be excellent if more banks could afford to adopt the same plan. This department was inaugurated for persons holding unregistered bonds, especially for those who do not have a regular bank account. The only requirements of the depositor is that he or she deposit not less than $5.00 as a saving account when depositing the bond. As the interest on the bond falls due, the coupons are automatically clipped and added to the savings account. It has been found that this plan proved a fine advertisement for bringing more customers to the bank, and to, it encouraged thrift among those who ordinarily are not inclined to save.

The life of the Victory Notes will be four years, although they may be redeemed in three years at the option of the Government, and they will be divided into two series, one series bearing interest at 4 3-4 per cent, exempt from all taxation except the superincome tax; the other series bearing interest at 3 3-4 per cent, which will not be taxed for any purpose whatever. For this reason, investors in large amounts will doubtless prefer the 3 3-4 per cent notes, while small holders who do not have large income taxes to pay will prefer the notes with the large amounts will doubtless shdu gr 4 3-4 per cent notes will be printed and issued, but they may be converted into the 3 3-4 per cent series later.

This is merely to give those who do not know already the advantages in buying the Victory Bonds.

FARM AND STOCK

One of the prettiest places on the Cloverport and Hardinsburg pike this spring is Mr. E. W. Frey's. Mr. Frey has built to his home a new porch which extends across the length of the house, and his home has been painted in all white. These improvements have added greatly to the attractiveness of his place, and it is a pleasure to the passers-by to see farms that are being well kept and improved each year. It shows prosperity.

Farmers are given the credit of being the most conservative class of business men in the country. So the Victory Loan will appeal to them more readily than oil investments or any other kind of investment of similar nature. The farmers played a prominent part in winning the war and now they can help finish up the job.

E. Frank Carter is having a tile roof put on his brick house. Coming down the pike, and seeing this red roof shining through the tops of the green trees, makes a picture that no artist could do justice to no matter what his fame may be. Mr. Carter has always been one of the progressive farmers in Breckenridge, and he is doing all in his power in getting the Ohio River Route through Cloverport and on out the pike.

Bruce Moorman's farm on the Branch road is showing up fine—a cheery attractive home place in its new coat of paint. The out-buildings, fencing and trees have all been whitecoated. This shows appreciation of home and home surroundings. There ought to be more of this kind of work on the farm.

H. M. Jolly, of near Lewisport, was here last week visiting his sister, Mrs. Frank Payne, and his brothers, George and Frank Jolly, on the pike. This is his first visit back home in four years.

Henry is looking fine and is doing well on his farm. He sold last year 6,000 pounds of Burley at $25, and 4,000 pounds of Prior at $16 round; also $500 worth of corn. This is the product of himself and a tenant on one hundred acres of land. He is planning for a big crop this year. Henry reads the Breckenridge News and keeps up with home events.

J. N. Conkright, who recently purchased the Rogers farm near town, has named his place "Clover Creek Farm," a very pretty and appropriate name, as it lies on the waters of Clover Creek. Mr. Conkright is a breeder of thoroughbred Hampshire hogs. He sold last week to Owen Winchell, of Tobinsport, a thorough bred registered gilt for $42.50; 4 registered pigs at 10 each. One to Bill Roberts, 1 to Wm. Hall, 2 to G. A. C. Duncan. One cow to Lee Mode for $75; one to Walter Brown for 50; three to M. L. Conkright for $100.

C. V. Robertson sold W. R. Moorman, Jr., Monday a fine saddle horse for $285. This sale heads the list for high-priced saddlers in this county.

Judge Moorman is giving his barn, formerly the amphitheatre at the fair grounds, a coat of red paint which helps its appearance very much. It is an up-to-date barn in every way. Now if he will build a handsome residence out there and get married we will rise up and call him blessed.

Buy stock in the only Oil Company operating in Kentucky that has a guaranteed income for the next 15 years from the sale of Natural Gas on their property.

To you people who throw up your hands in holy horror at the word "OIL" mentioned in any proposition, let me call your attention to the fact that the Pennagrade Oil & Gas Company is selling merchandise at a tremendous profit.

There is no difference between the contract that we have with the Louisville Gas and Electric Company for Natural Gas to run for the next fifteen years, than there is in any contract you have with any reputable concern in your own territory to deliver a quantity of merchandise.

We refer you to National Bank of Kentucky, United States Trust Co., and Louisville Trust Co., all of Louisville.

So friend Mul you have dropped on to me, and that my name was not Lodiburg. Nor was it Brown or Jones. Keep your coat on friend Joe. But please don't tell it. It is Benjamin Franklin Casabranca Stephen and I will tell you my name in full, Loregia Casteen Brown. But every body calls me Fool Jake for short. Now Joe don't get Casteen and canteen mixed up together. May have my picture taken some day and if I do I will sure send you one. So now I can only tell you what I look like my hair is long, black, straight and as course as an Indians. High cheek bones and little black bead eyes away back in my head, and as to my neck I have none, my head is fastened to my back. Now Joe if you ever pass Lodiburg, you had better wear a pair of green glasses, or you might get a sight of me, and that would be the last of Joe, at least your hair would turn white as some has done from sudden fears. So good night Joe.

A Man and the World.

The world owes you nothing, unless by your own achievements you have made it your debtor. The man who imagines that the world owes him a living has taken the first step toward knavery; the second step is taken when he tries to collect the debt which is not due him. The greater his success in this, the greater thief he is, if he takes out of the world more than he has put into it.—L. V. Abbott.

eral aid road, but getting to use it just the same. The big point is to vote the taxes so that the outlying districts may be protected and at the same time get together enough money to take advantage of state and national aid. Nobody knows where that road will run, but it will help anywhere, and voting the tax helps its chances.

When we realize that a large part of those competent to vote on this question will pay no taxes whatever, and that the landowners and business men generally should favor the proposition in self defense, it seems unbelievable that there is a probability of the tax losing. Many intelligent, well meaning men are against the tax because they do not understand the proposition. For your self and posterity, you could never do a better work than seeing your neighbors in the interest of this movement. Yes, it costs a little money but think of the benefits of spending these thousands among us for teams and labor, under skilled management, and the use of real roads thereafter. Ask your preachers, teachers, and those who judgement you regard, read the best journals and seek to vote as best serves the interests of all, and the result will some day reward your action. The people who pay the taxes, in connection with state and national supervisors, will see that the money is spent right and nobody else need worry about it.

Respectfully,

DOES YOUR BUSINESS INTEREST YOU?

Breckinridge County is simply to supplement the taxes already being paid, thereby making available more funds to apply on the roads in each of the six Magisterial Districts. In application and effect, the order of the Fiscal Court practically makes it a District Tax rather than a county tax. What could be plainer than this, or fairer? *The idea is to take advantage of state aid, as a simple business proposition.

2.....Amount of the Tax.

The amount of tax possible to collect under the order is only twenty (20) cents on each one hundred dollars of taxable property. This means that the average property taxpayer only pays about two ($2.00) dollars per year, that the poll-taxpayers or man without property, pays absolutely nothing, and that the corporations and people with the money bear the burden. It is as it should be, in this matter, the laborer, tenant, young men, and others who have not been fortunate enough to acquire property, or who have lost it, have an opportunity to cast their ballot compelling the others to build better roads for use of all.

3.....Disposition of Money Raised

Under the order, which controls, this taxes must be spent in the district in which it is collected. The entire matter, as a business proposition, is presented by the following table of facts and figures, as furnished, to-wit:

Taxable Property by Districts in Breckinridge County for Local Purposes.

District	Assessment	Money raised by 15c levy	To be raised by 20c levy	Total for road work	Total with State Aid
First	$1,895,398	$2,842.95	$3,790.70	$6,633.65	18,953
Second	1,283,374	1,924.95	2,566.75	4,491.70	12,833
Third	1,061,514	1,592.26	2,123.02	3,715.28	10,615
Fourth	1,307,537	1,961.10	2,615.07	4,576.17	13,046
Fifth	777,411	1,166.10	1,554.82	2,720.92	7,774
Sixth	1,051,429	1,577.14	2,102.80	3,679.93	10,514
Totals	$7,376,663	$11,064.49	$14,753.16	$25,817.65	$73,735

In addition to the above the assessment of Franchises and tangible property of the various corporations in the county will be approximately $2,000,000 which will yield $7,000 for road purposes. This $7,000 supplemented by State Aid will amount to $17,500 for road purposes within Breckinridge county, not one dollar of which is collected from Breckinridge county citizens.

Breckinridge county assesses for State purposes $8,380,077 on which the tax-payers of the county pay 3 cents per $100 for State road purposes or a total to the State each year of $2,514.

We have in the county about 600 automobiles on which the average tax for license is about $7.00 or $4,200 from this source paid to the State each year and continually growing larger. This plus the $2,514 raised by the 3 cent tax makes $6,714 which we pay to the State each year and not one dollar of which will ever be spent in Breckinridge county unless we vote the 20 cent tax, and take advantage of State Aid.

Conclusion

To intelligently and fairly consider this proposition, first brush aside the misrepresentations and misconceptions that may be exerting influence. The reason for this election is not the construction of a National Highway, as this is only an incidental argument. Other similar counties are and we must build some permanent road, regardless of this great opportunity to get national aid. Where the road runs in the county, or whether it crosses at all or not, should not lose one vote for the proposed tax. If it goes up the river, only the tax of those districts touched is involved; such is the case if it goes by Cloverport and Hardinsburg, Balltown and Hardinsburg or Fordsville and Hardinsburg, the rest of the county applying taxes in the districts in which collected, regardless of the Fed-

GAS FOR LOUISVILLE

City Now In No Danger of Not Having Ample Supply of Fuel Gas

Louisville, Ky., May 5th.—The troubles anticipated by Louisville as to next winter's fuel gas are all over and the situation which at first promised considerable litigation has been relieved.

The Pennagrade Oil and Gas Co., composed of a number of wealthy West Virginia coal operators, has closed a contract with the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. for a supply covering the next fifteen years.

The Pennagrade people have also interested a number of Kentucky men in their project, among them Geo. T. Wood, Vice President of the Bourbon Stock Yards, Louisville; Col. Robt. G. Evans, of Danville; Robt. M. Trimble, of Mt. Sterling; Rev. E. B. G. Mann, of Lexington, and Morris J. Farris, of Danville.

They propose to sell only sufficient stock to build a pipe line from the Eastern fields to Louisville. Contract for this has been placed. R. W. Moon, of Louisville, is Fiscal Agent.

Earthen Jars, Egg Banks

Resurrect the old earthen jar from the cellar. Filled with waterglass it possesses magic akin to Aladdin's wonderful lamp. Eggs put in it now can be taken out next fall and winter when high prices return, and it is not unlikely they will double in price in that time. Farmers and poultrymen, especially city dwellers who keep poultry, are being urged by poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture to preserve eggs in waterglass solution this spring and early summer when they are relatively cheap, for use during the fall and winter when they are relatively scarce and high in price. This plan is meeting with ready and widespread response, as has been shown by demands for information as to how to preserve eggs, and by reports received from druggists who have noted a marked increase in their sales of waterglass.

Poultry specialists say that there will be a great increase in the number of eggs preserved this season as compared to former years. This is of benefit to the producer and to the consumer alike. It benefits the producer because it stimulates the consumption of eggs which usually falls off during the period of highest price, and it benefits the consumer by making it possible for him to have good, wholesome eggs for liberal use during the season of high prices. One effective means employed by the poultry specialists to encourage the preserving of eggs has been to demonstrate the process, the specialists and home demonstration agents giving demonstrations in homes and department stores in many States.

Looking to Kentucky to Supply Tobacco Shortage

Shall Kentucky raise all the tobacco possible in order to supply the world shortage that is said to exist or shall it limit the production in order that prices of tobacco may be maintained to the point where the grower may be assured a reasonable profit and not exposed to the danger of a disastrous slump in price?

This is the question that today fronts those interested in one of the State's greatest products and chief sources of revenue.

Linked with the question of whether the shortage that exists is such that prices will be held up regardless of the volume of production.

This situation which is one of the most important that has ever confronted the tobacco men of Kentucky, was brought to a head Thursday when the Kentucky State University's department of agriculture issued a bulletin setting forth that there is a serious shortage in the supply of tobacco and that the tobacco users of the world are looking to Kentucky to provide for them.

On the other hand Matt S. Cohen, Commissioner of Agriculture, has taken the stand that the interests of the tobacco growers require that the crop in Kentucky this year be limited in order that the prices may be kept at the necessary level.

There has developed a very pronounced diversity of opinion among those families with the tobacco industry of Kentucky as to the course to pursue. Matt S. Cohen, commissioner of agriculture, started his campaign a month ago, with a view to preventing a record-breaking crop this year, but the Kentucky State University department of agriculture yesterday put forth its argument for a large crop.

Interests identified with the American Tobacco Company express the opinion that a large crop of tobacco raised here will yield a profitable return to farmers.

Mr. Cohen's Argument.

At meetings held here and in Lexington Mr. Cohen said that acreage figures presented to the Department of Agriculture of the State indicated that the crop this year would surpass in volume that grown in Kentucky last year. Last year's crop was the largest in the history of the State. Prices were also the highest in history on all grades of tobacco. He called attention to the fact that prices during the past six weeks had declined approximately 60 per cent because of a falling off in the demand due to the ending of the war. He predicted bankruptcy for Kentucky tobacco farmers unless there was an immediate and drastic curtailment of the crop.

Arguments presented against curtailment were to the effect that the ground had already been rented or bought; that it had been prepared for the crop, entailing large labor costs and that the beds were sprouting and that to abandon a large portion of the crop would mean an immediate financial loss to those involved, whereas there was a prospect for farmers to sell their tobacco to advantage when shipping facilities to foreign countries became more normal.

Assertions As To Shortage

Yesterday the extension division of the College of Agriculture of the Kentucky University announced that statistics gathered by that organization showed there is scarcely any tobacco in foreign countries outside of the army of occupation and that the immediate needs of those countries are estimated at 500,000,000 pounds to fill the stocks of manufacturers and dealers. This takes no account of stocks in the hands of consumers. The crop of last year provided an exportable surplus of only 400,000,000 pounds, despite the fact that it was the largest crop on record.

In view of the wider market that will be presented when ocean shipping becomes more readily available, it is argued by officers of the State college that there will be absorbed all of the surplus that might result from even a greater crop this year. The language of the statement issued by the College of Agriculture is very emphatic:

"Taking into consideration the abnormal conditions in the world's tobacco market, next year's crop outlook appears very favorable. This is true even when we consider that the United States, from present indication, will produce several million pounds more than ever before in its history."

The reference to "next year's" crop is considered to mean the next agricultural year or crop year.

American Tobacco Company's View

An officer of the American Tobacco Company, discussing the situation said:

"There is undoubtedly a shortage of tobacco throughout the world and prices for the next crop will be at a point where there will be a good profit for the producer. These prices will probably not be as high as those prevailing during the greater part of this year, because of the abnormal war conditions, but the demand will be great enough to keep prices well above the cost of production and farmers are bound to make money. Tobacco growers in foreign countries have been unable to produce tobacco on the usual scale because of war conditions, and there has been a greater use of American tobacco than ever before. In the past foreign countries have used principally the heavy types of tobacco grown in this country, but with the increased use of Burley abroad and the enforced use of Burley to supply the deficiency of dark or heavy tobacco in the United States, Burley tobacco must be in greater demand."

"In addition to this there has been an enormous increase in the use of cigarettes all over the world, and especially in the United States. We have begun a more extensive use of burley tobacco in the manufacture of this article and this increased use will make a further drain on the burley market."

Shipping Affects Prices

"Prices on all grades of tobacco at the present time are considerably below the high level prevailing earlier this year, but this is not due to an actual surplus of tobacco. The bulk of tobacco that is being offered for sale now is of very low grade and foreign shipping conditions, demoralized by the war, have been such that foreign shipments have been curtailed. Manufacturers with large stocks of tobacco of all grades on hand have hesitated to continue loading up until they could see an outlet for their present stocks. Consequently prices have declined and they will continue at this level until there is a prospect of improved foreign shipping conditions and then we can look for a rise in prices."

"There is unquestionably a very large shortage of tobacco throughout the world, and the United States will be called upon to fill this demand, and those farmers who go in for a large crop will certainly not miss it."

Says Curtailment Not Needed

"The campaign for crop curtailment, based on the assumption that there is an over-production of tobacco, is wrong, and, furthermore, it was undertaken at a time when it was impossible for farmers to change their plans without great loss in many instances, because the land had already been bought or rented and prepared for the crop. A campaign of this character started at that time would scarcely result in curtailment."

"The crop this year will be, undoubtedly unprecedentedly large and prices will be such that farmers will profit."

Mr. Cohen was not at his office in Frankfort today, but was at some point in Western Kentucky, and could not be reached.
